

Alexandria Gazette.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 22.

The belief that human beings should sleep with their heads to the north is said to have its foundation in a scientific fact. The French Academy of Sciences has made experiments upon the body of a guinea pig which go to prove that each human system is in itself an electric battery, one electrode being represented by the head, the other by the feet. The body was taken immediately after death and placed on a pivot, to move as it might. After some vacillation the head portion turned toward the north, the body then remaining stationary. One of the professors turned it half way around, but it soon regained its original position, and the same result was repeatedly obtained until organic movements finally ceased.

Mrs. Sue Dyer, of Dexter, Me., for several years was troubled with curious sensations in her stomach, and sometimes in her throat. She became convinced that she had some sort of a living creature in her stomach, and induced a physician to give her medicine to destroy it. A local newspaper says that after she took the medicine the movements of the creature became so violent that they threw her into convulsions that lasted several hours. A few days afterward she was relieved of a snake twenty one inches long. It is feared that Mrs. Dyer will not recover.
